honor to have the chance to serve with Senator Coordsen, Senator Crosby, and Senator Kristensen on the Warner Memorial Committee. Of course, I had the great pleasure of serving with Senator Warner all these years as a member of the Lancaster County delegation. We became very close and through those years had a chance to work very well together on so many different topics. His loss is felt personally by myself, collectively as a legislature, and as a state of Nebraska we lost a giant. Clearly we need to honor a man who's done so much for the state. His wife, Betty, of course, was his strength and her loss is felt as well. His brother, his father, his family were a great asset to Nebraska. So to take this step, and this is no small step, and I think we ought to realize how significant this is to name the East Chamber for the Warner family, I think, is most appropriate. And with his love and his father's love for the Legislature, their service to the Legislature, naming it the Warner Legislative Chamber is absolutely appropriate. It's going to be a living legacy, and that's the exciting part of it. It's not just going to be naming a room and then years from now wondering about what the significance is because Senator Warner, I think, always had a commitment to look to the future and to build for the future. The concept of trying to build that Chamber into a point, a focal point for the state to discuss public policy, to have programs, to have an interactive ability to base out of that facility across the state of Nebraska, to educate Nebraskans about issues about the state I think will be a great asset far into the future. It will take a commitment by this Legislature to finance that, but in the end it will be a lasting living tribute to one of the greatest Nebraskans and, I think, truly a great leader for our state for so many years. I wanted to mention, you know, this is my twentieth year here and I think it would be significant again to point out how important it was that Senator Warner served and be our longest serving legislator. When I first came in, I had the chance to serve with Dick Marvel. Dick Marvel was also a great legislator and a great Nebraskan. And I recall when he was struck down by Alzheimer's and had to leave office, it was a tremendous loss. It was also a loss to this state and this Legislature because he had served something like 26 years. And there was another legislator who had served 26 years, and his name was Sam Klaver. Sam Klaver was not a highly regarded legislator. In fact, I think he's the only legislator ever censured by the Nebraska
